c. Alumni/Graduate Committee (Jessie) -
   i. Meeting last week, Guide to Grad Studies
      1. Suggested new rule that committees must submit issues with thesis at least 10 days before - but apparently it’s already a rule that problems should be submitted 5 days before - agreed to include 5 days in Guide and make this rule more clear.
         a. So if someone reads your thesis the night before and found a problem you can’t fail defense because of it, they need to tell you at least 5 days in advance
      2. Feedback - if you fail or get referred your committee must give you feedback shortly after
      3. Also agreed to more clearly define what needed for MSc thesis - they were hesitant to add it in because it changes between subdisciplines - agreed to add to Guide that supervisor and committee define thesis with student, should be established early on
   ii. EDI rep elected for grad committee, proposed to include more resources for bipoc students in gtgs
   iii. Website - fill out survey for feedback

   b. Plenary speaker - Dr Lougheed wanted to invite an Indigenous speaker, hoping to have them as plenary speaker for BGRS as well

8. Discussion
   a. Two potential positions and/or subcommittees: (write up a plan and introduce to biograds in Jan?)
      i. Divestment
         1. Could work with Divest Queen’s or have their own divestment related initiatives - Nell can put together description of position, send it out to biograds in Jan to see if anyone is interested. When we had elections, a lot more interest than positions, good to have more positions
         2. Another alternative - having a general environmental rep
            a. Environmental justice associated position
            b. could introduce initiatives like clothing swaps
c. could do divestment now until they get divested
d. Could also be someone who’s also on environmental committee - Paul Grogan and Vicki Friesen on this - but no meetings for it since covid started - might be worth reaching out to Paul and Vicki

ii. Recruitment
1. They could work on making sure we’re advertising grad student positions in dept, could attend EDI meetings and make sure there’s an EDI focus on recruitment, could work with Riley running twitter account
2. Logistically might need to think about what they could do, individual supervisors ultimately choose who they accept
3. Currently not much social media advertising that positions exist - part of position could be making sure that advertising efforts are reaching people from underrepresented groups
4. Should involve EDI committee in these discussions - they have more of a focus on supporting than recruiting students but could work with them for this position
5. Getting a grad student heavily involved could be good because a student might have more of a sense what other future grad students looking for in a position - e.g. if they’re more active on twitter, see more things circulating
6. Could involve making infographic on application process, other things like that the person could think of
7. Dept might be willing to pay for this position like they do for the social media TA on twitter - might have to push for this to be paid though
